This book list gives suggestions of titles that contain many opportunities for your child to hear specific speech sounds in words. This list is organized by sound. When your child is learning a specific sound you can add to his/her experience by sharing these books. The books were chosen for their simple stories, visual appeal and they offer lots of opportunities for auditory bombardment of particular sounds.

Auditory bombardment or focused auditory stimulation refers to providing a child with intensified examples of a target speech sound. Research suggests that hearing a sound repeatedly, with extra stress, is an important component of sound learning. The books on our list give adults many chances to stress specific sounds at the beginning, middle or end of words as they share books with children.
